PROPOSALS

For Publishing, by Subscription,

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF

SIR WALTER SCOTT:

With a Biography: being the first American (and only) edition which contains the Author's last additions and illustrations, arranged upon their respective pages.

A COMPLETE and uniform edition of the various productions of the great 'Minstrel of the North,' is a desideratum with the American public. No library is complete without them, and no edition extant is sufficiently compact for such a repository; while the endless number of editions, without any uniformity in size, heretofore published, besides being exceedingly cumbrous, are far too voluminous and expensive to be within the reach of the great majority of readers. The undersigned therefore announce, that they have now in press, and will issue, an edition of the Works of Sir Walter Scott, which will embrace all his Poems, Novels, Histories, Biographies, and Fugitive Compositions, as well as the Biography and Private Correspondence, now in the course of publication in England, under the superintendence of Mr. Lockhart.

1st. In Parts: each Part embracing as much matter as is contained in two volumes of the present editions of the Waverley Novels, which will be put at the unprecedented low price of THIRTY SEVEN AND A HALF CENTS.

2d. Two parts will appear each month; but should the publishers find the work to meet the patronage they anticipate, FOUR PARTS will be issued monthly.

3d. The whole will be completed in seven volumes, or forty eight parts.

The paper on which the above is now printing, has been made expressly for the purpose; the present parts may, therefore, be considered a fair specimen, in every respect, of the whole work; but, should dissatisfaction arise with any subscriber, owing to an inferior article being offered, he may discontinue at any time, and have the amount paid returned.

Note.—The publication of the first volume is deferred until the receipt of the Biography, Private Correspondence, and the New Edition of the Author's Poetical Works, with 'contemporary criticism—various readings—and correspondence with some of the most eminent persons of the time when the Poems first appeared,' now in the course of publication in England.

Volume 1 will be ornamented with an excellent Portrait of Sir Walter Scott.

DAILY PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON, AUGUST 22, 1833.

☞ In our notice of the affair which resulted in the death of Wm. Kelly, which was prepared after enquiry, we stated that the stone was thrown by Samuel M'Cutcheon. We have since been requested to state that there was testimony to disprove this fact, and to prove that the stone was thrown by another person.

INCONSISTENCY.—The Jacksonites made it an objection to the United States Bank, that some of the Stock is owned by foreigners. Now, many anti Jackson men urge, as an objection to George Wolf and our State improvements, that a great deal of the debt is owned by Englishmen and Frenchmen.—These objections are both ridiculous—surely, if money—capital—that which sets in motion all the industry of a country, is wanted, it is advantageous to get it on the best possible terms. Such, however, is the blindness of party spirit.

PROGRESS OF IMPROVEMENT IN NEWSPAPERS.—In September, 1825, the Pittsburgh Gazette was issued, weekly, upon a super royal sheet. The form was five columns wide, as our daily paper is now, and about one half inch longer than our present daily paper. Then the paper, coming once a week, was considered large enough—now, a sheet of almost precisely the same size, coming daily, is, by some, thought rather too small.—Truly the times have changed, and we have changed with them.

DAILY PAPERS.—We receive, in exchange, the Mercantile Journal, a remarkably well conducted daily paper, published in Boston.—The paper is a small one—the page being more than four inches shorter, and two inches narrower, than our daily paper—the selected, editorial, and other original matter, is good.

REMINISCENCES.—In the 5th Number of the 1st Volume of the Pittsburgh Gazette, there is a long and well written article in favor of making Pittsburgh the seat of justice for a new county, and the inconvenience to which the inhabitants were subjected by being compelled to travel to Greensburgh, to attend Court as Jurors or Witnesses, is greatly complained of. In 1788, an Act was passed, creating the county of Allegheny, but making Allegheny the seat of justice—this, however, was soon altered, and Pittsburgh was permanently fixed upon in 1791.

In the Gazette of October 7th, 1786, we noticed the following extract of a letter from Philadelphia, dated Sept. 14, 1786, from which it appears that, up to that time, there was no regular mail to this place, the inhabitants having to depend upon travelers, or upon expresses, sent upon extraordinary occasions.

Extract of a letter from Philadelphia, dated

"SEPTEMBER 14, 1786.

"Mr. Brison is just returned from New York with orders to establish a post from this place to Pittsburgh, and one from Virginia to Bedford, the two to meet at Bedford; from thence one will proceed on to Pittsburgh. I also understand there will be other internal posts established throughout this state."

PENNSYLVANIA CANALS.—We were rejoiced to see the following paragraph, in the last Harrisburgh Chronicle. We trust the predictions of the editor of that paper will be fulfilled, and our pleasure will not be alloyed by any fear that George Wolf may gain too much credit:

"The canal, from Middletown to Hollidaysburg, has been in operation throughout the season, with very little interruption, as have been the Union and Schuylkill canals, that connect it with Philadelphia. The Portage rail road, connecting Hollidaysburg, east of the Alleghenies, with Johnstown, on the west, will be ready for purposes of transportation by October. From Johnstown to Pittsburgh the line of canal has been navigable throughout the season. So that by the opening of navigation, in March next, there will be a thorough communication, by canal and rail road, from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh, which will redound, in an incalculable degree, to the prosperity and interest of the State, and the unshaken firmness and persevering energy of George Wolf, in urging its prosecution, amidst the most untoward circumstances, seized upon and wielded by the arm of faction, will be held in grateful remembrance while a canal or rail road exists in Pennsylvania."

The National Gazette, in a reply to some remarks of the Richmond Whig, a nullification paper, says—

"The editor of the Whig, however, has conceived the design,—and seems to have some confidence in the experiment—of reviving the old party distinctions of Republicans and Federalists! He thinks that we should thus "get rid of man worship;" and that the people would then consider principles alone as the only safe guides at the polls. Here we have a waking dream—"the baseless fabric of a vision." The reform would not follow, if those distinctions should be re-established. But they cannot be. The foreign politics with which they were blended are gone, and the "fusion of old parties" is complete. President Jackson, who, in Congress, joined Mr. Giles in refusing a vote of thanks to President Washington, has become Chief Magistrate of the Union; Mr. M'Lane the last who earnestly and directly vindicated federalism, in Congress, is Secretary of State; and Mr. Livingston, who was among the most ardent assailants of old federalism, wrote the Proclamation of 1832; the present Attorney General was one of the leading Federalists of Maryland. It cannot be doubted that President Jackson, in selecting the members of his cabinet, proper, paid no attention to the complection of their old politics; and it is not less evident that the People over the vast surface of our republic are equally indifferent on that head. The cry of Democracy which is raised, in some parts, in contradistinction to Federalism, may serve for municipal elections within narrow limits; but in this sphere, when men are scanned, it proves to be absolutely ludicrous.

☞ On Sunday Evening next, in Trinity Church, a Discourse on Education will be delivered by the Rev. Dr. Lacey. Service to commence at early candle lighting. AUG. 22, 1833.

☞ THE WESTERN ARGUS, published in Beaver, an old and respectable paper, has lately been much enlarged, and improved in its appearance.

CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO CANAL.—We publish, to day, an extract from the able report of the Hon. Andrew Stewart, in relation to this important improvement.—The fact that this great project had early attracted the attention of the Father of his country, and been by him pronounced practical, and deemed of a national character, should not only exalt it, in our estimation, but endear it in our affections. To secure the completion of a work first contemplated by Washington, as a bond of national union, would certainly be a proud and lofty feather in the cap of Andrew Jackson.—More lofty than the victory at New Orleans, and almost as towering as the issuing of the Proclamation of the 10th December, 1832. If he comes out manfully, as is expected, in favor of this noble project, we will cheerfully unite in doing him that honor which he will have fairly earned.

It was, it seems, in 1784, that Washington first set himself seriously to work in examining and ascertaining the practicability of this work. Next year, 1834, will complete the full term of fifty years since the project was first conceived—and we would be well pleased to see President Jackson, during that year, dig up the first spadeful of earth in the western division of that great work, near Braddock's field, the scene of Washington's first fame.

FROM CANTON.

Advices have been received from Canton, in this city and at Baltimore, to the 4th of April. The most interesting item they contain, is intelligence of the progressive relaxation of the restrictions imposed by the Chinese Government upon foreign trade.—Two official documents have been recently published by the Governor, respecting the late voyages of European vessels upon the eastern coasts of the empire. The tone of these documents is so greatly altered, that it is believed that the prohibition to trade elsewhere than at Canton, will soon cease to operate. Already many voyages have been made, and the rapidity with which they increase, indicates success:—and if the British find them practicable and profitable, the Americans will doubtless ere long follow in their wake. —N. Y. Com. Adv.

Should the anticipations of the sanguine calculator be realized, (says the Chinese Courier) what a field will then be opened to enterprize? The country, of which we know so little, will then become familiar to us; the prejudice with which the natives regard us, may be overcome; their harshness and austerity will be mollified—their pride softened—their good will conciliated. A field of discovery will be opened to the man of science—a new world to the enterprise of the merchant. In the contemplation of these possibilities, who is there here, suffering under the jealous confinement to which all foreigners at Canton must submit, who does not exult in the prospect which is thus opened to him? We shall have comforts and conveniences of which we dream not; resources at present unknown. In short, the opening of the trade, which we now see but dimly in perspective, may actually take place; if the steps towards its consummation which have already been made, are but followed up with perseverance and care.

We shall no longer be derided as slaves to Chinese caprice; and the tired merchant, or the inquisitive idler may escape from the heat and inconvenience of Canton, during the long summer, to ramble without "let or hindrance" at Peking or the great wall; to visit Loo Choo, with Captain Hall's veracious narrative to laugh at, and return to enrich the columns of the Canton periodicals with his experience. This extended intercourse with China will have another effect, to which all philanthropic minds must look forward with pleasure,—the improvement of the Chinese, and the removal of their furious prejudices against foreigners. While we instruct them, we may acquire information ourselves, and though it is pretty certain, from what has been already done, that we are not to look to the Chinese history for examples brighter than those which grace the European annals, or hope, in the mysteries of Chinese science, to add to the pyramid of knowledge many facts which are unknown, we may still derive a moral from their history, and learn, from their vain pride and empty pretensions, to value more highly our own improvement—and bear our greater blessings meekly.

The insurrection on the island of Formosa is said to have been quelled with less difficulty than had been apprehended. The manner in which it was accomplished, is not quite clear.

Governor Lee, after having been put to death in different ways, has reappeared in life!—but has been sentenced to exile in Western Tartary. He has also been sentenced by the Emperor, to pay from his accumulations a sum equal to three tenths of the expenses of the war against the Leenchon Mountaineers! Several of these rebels have been tried and put to death.

St. Paul's Cathedral, London.—Length of the church, 690 feet; breadth, 130; height of the west part, within, 88; height of the body of the church, 150; height of the tower, 260; height of the spire, 224. The ball on the top would contain ten bushels of grain, and was nine feet one inch in circumference. Length of the cross above the ball, 15 feet; length of the transverse, 6 feet. The above is taken from Thomson's history of London and Westminster, and comprises the dimensions of the ancient Cathedral of St. Paul's.

A METAPHYSICAL HORSE WHIPPING.—Those of our readers who have attended to the contest between Don Pedro and Don Miguel, may remember that, some months ago, the former, from dissatisfaction with the commander of his fleet, Admiral Sartorius, sent his Aid de camp, Sir John M. Doyle, to put him under arrest. When, however, the Aid de camp stepped on board the Admiral's ship, he himself was arrested, and kept in confinement. For the indignity of this proceeding, the soldier called upon the sailor for explanation: the sailor's reply was, that Sir John could hardly have calculated upon any other treatment, when he ungraciously volunteered on such a mission, but that if brother officers think he (the Admiral) owes any satisfaction to Sir John, he would be happy to afford it to him, whenever they might meet at home or on board, he (the Admiral) being then about to proceed to France: thereupon, the knight, after expressing his regret at the necessity of the case, thus writes to the Admiral:

"It now becomes an imperative but painful duty on my part to request your Excellency will do me the favor to conceive that you have been horse whipped by Sir J. M. Doyle, K. C. B. and K. T. S., who laments that your unaccountable and unwarrantable conduct should oblige him to adopt this as the only step your intended flight from the scene of your gallant exploits has left open. But should your Excellency; on more mature reflection, revoke your intention of proceeding forthwith to France, I shall be most happy to receive you at the Foz whenever you are pleased to appoint, and to assure your Excellency that every attention and requisite accommodation will be proved for you during the short period that your residence may be necessary on that occasion in Portugal."

Hereupon, the London Times, in the paragraph we copy, suggests a way out of the quarrel, without compromising the honor of either party:

"Sir John Milley Doyle, with a finished politeness and an amusing naivete worthy of those distinguished heroes, Major O'Flaherty and Sir Lucius O'Trigger, requests his Excellency Vice Admiral Sartorius "will do him the favor to conceive that he has been horse whipped by Sir John Milley Doyle, K. C. B. and C. T. S." Now, there is a precedent, and a very celebrated one, in the French code of honor, (and no code is more sensitively delicate,) which the Vice Admiral may at once readily adopt, and thus honorably settle this inauspicious quarrel. Let him answer, in the words of the precedent, that "he (the Vice Admiral) begs the favor of Sir John Milley Doyle, K. C. B. and K. T. S. to be assured that he (the Vice Admiral) has run the said Sir John through the body. Thus this metaphysical duel will end as it began, in an imaginary collision. How much better than the reality for both parties!

Communication of Intelligence.—The Telegraph communication between London and Portsmouth is perhaps as perfect as any in the world. I am informed (says a late writer) that an arrival at Portsmouth has been announced to the Admiralty in London and an order returned for the sailing of another ship in six minutes—the distance between the two places being seventy miles! Of course the rapidity of the information was at the rate of forty six miles per minute, including the time of preparing the answer! It is to be understood, however, that all concerned in the agency were in expectation, and ready to do their duty.

A Man Killed with a Candle.—An inquest was held at Ciewer, on Friday last, on the body of a man, Charles Hore, who was unfortunately killed the same morning, in the following thoughtless manner:—It appeared in evidence that the poor fellow had been engaged the previous evening as an extra waiter at the Calvary Barracks, and had returned home early in the morning with a friend, with whom he was laughing and joking. As he walked down the yard, at the back of his house, the other loaded a gun with powder, and put into it half a rushlight, and fired, with the intention of covering him with grease. The poor man instantly dropped down, and died in less than two hours afterwards, the candle having passed through his kidneys. He has left a wife and 5 small children destitute.—London Paper.

The State Convention.—The last Harrisburgh Chronicle, a paper which has latterly shown great zeal in the cause of Jackson and Pennsylvania Democracy, says—"The call of a convention to amend the State Constitution, is insisted on with much pertinacity by a Reform Association in Philadelphia, which sends out its circulars to the counties in order to obtain some sort of backing. In this quarter, the labors of the Association have made no impression. The people of the State know the theoretical defects of the Constitution, but they also know its practical advantages, and a majority having twice declared against it, the necessity for agitating the question just now is not perceived. Such is the general sentiment, as far as we have heard it expressed.—Chambersburgh Repository, Aug. 20.

Temperance Hotels.—Every Bostonian must feel a pride in the reflection that there are four hotels in this city to which temperate strangers can resort. In other cities, he will look in vain for similar establishments to an equal extent. In New York, he will inquire in vain for a hotel which he can enter without being disgusted with the instruments of intoxication. In Baltimore, Washington, and Philadelphia, it is doubtful whether a single temperance establishment exists. In Albany, which ought to be the nursery of such places, he will find but one, which however is equal to any in the city. Hartford and Providence can welcome him but to one, and other cities cannot shew him a greater, if so great a number. Boston, to her praise be it spoken, has four.—Boston Journal.

We learn that the Board of Ordnance which met in this city, according to previous arrangement, yesterday, adjourned to a future day, without proceeding to make its intended experiments, &c., for the purpose of systematizing that branch of the Military Service. It will reassemble some time in the autumn, which season is better adapted than the present for the proposed experiments. —Nat. Intel.

Mr. Webster's Pittsburgh Speech.—It affords us gratification to learn that Mr. Webster is preparing a report of the speech delivered by him at Pittsburgh, on a recent occasion, with his own hand.—The sketch which appeared in the papers at the time, we very well knew to be exceedingly imperfect.—There were marks and lineaments of its author; but as a whole, it was not the speech. We shall now have it as it came glowing from the lips of the statesman—beautiful as the fair west—clear as the tumbling fountains of the Alleghenies—and sound as the orator's own head.—N. Y. Com. Adv.

Extract from Mr. Stewart's report from the committee of Roads and Canals, No. 228, 1st session, 19th Congress:—

"The committee have obtained possession of a variety of letters, reports, maps, and papers, connected with this subject, in the hand writing of General Washington, extracts of which are annexed to this report. From these papers it appears that the importance of improving the navigation of the Potomac river, which affords the nearest and most practicable connection with the Western waters, attracted the attention of the colonial Government of Virginia, whilst yet a province of Great Britain. Among the manuscripts referred to, the committee find a report in the hand writing of General Washington, dated in 1754, stating all the difficulties and obstructions to be overcome in rendering the Potomac navigable, and he actually succeeded, says his biographer, Marshall, in getting an act passed by the Colonial Government 'to open the Potomac so as to make it navigable from tide water to Will's creek, and the business was in a train which promised success when the Revolutionary war diverted the attention of its patrons, and of all America from Internal Improvements to the great objects of liberty and independence. As that war approached its termination, subjects which, for a time, had yielded their pretensions to consideration, reclaimed that place to which their real magnitude entitled them; and the internal navigation again attracted the attention of the wise and thinking part of society. Accustomed to contemplate America as his country, and to consider with solicitude the interests of the whole, Washington now took a more enlarged view of the advantages to be derived from opening both the Eastern and the Western Waters, and for this, as well as for other purposes, after peace had been proclaimed, he traversed the Western parts of New England and New York."

"And in a letter to the Marquis of Chastelleux, he says, 'I have lately made a tour through the lakes George and Champlain, as far as Crown Point; then returning to Schenectady. I proceeded up the Mohawk river to Fort Schuyler; crossed over the Wood creek which empties into the Oneida lake, and affords the water communication with Ontario. I then traversed the country to the head of the Eastern branch of the Susquehanna, and viewed the lake Otswego, and the portage between that lake and the Mohawk river, at Conajoharie. Prompted by these actual observations, I could not help taking a more contemplative and extensive view of the vast inland navigation of these United States, and could not but be struck with the immense diffusion and importance of it, and with the goodness of that Providence which has dealt his favors to us with so profuse a hand. Would to God we may have wisdom enough to improve them! I shall not rest contented until I have explored the Western country, and traversed those lines (or great part of them) which have given bounds to a new empire.'

"In the Fall of the same year it appears that General Washington, being so deeply impressed with the importance of uniting the Eastern and Western Waters, and devoting all his time and attention to it, actually explored the rout of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal as far as Pittsburgh. When he returned he made out a detailed and accurate report of the distances, the advantages and disadvantages of the several routs, examined by him, and on comparing them he expressed, unequivocally, his opinion that the Potomac and Ohio afforded the nearest and most practicable rout for the accomplishment of his favorite plan of approximating the Eastern and Western Waters; and what is a most remarkable fact, he at that early day predicted the accomplishment of the New York Canal, and that the trade of the West would soon be sufficient to supply with business not only the Potomac and Ohio, and New York Canals, but also one through the Susquehanna, to Lake Erie, which he thought would also be found practicable. But a circumstance still more remarkable, and one which shows in a most striking point of view the character of this great and extraordinary man is, that among his manuscript papers indorsed in his own hand writing, the committee have found a map exhibiting the whole route of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal indicating the practicable point of connection which appears to be precisely the same recommended by the United States' Board of Engineers in their report made to Congress at the last session!! This map also exhibits the rout of a road or portage to connect the Eastern and Western Waters, commencing at Cumberland and terminating at the Youghiogeny, precisely at the point where the present Cumberland road strikes that river, and without any material deviation in the intermediate space. Having made these surveys and reports, General Washington succeeded in getting a company incorporated by the concurrent acts of Virginia and Maryland, to improve this navigation, of which company he consented, at the pressing solicitation of Mr. Jefferson, Mr. Madison, and other distinguished individuals who co-operated with him, to accept the Presidency. In his letters to the Governors of Virginia and Maryland, to the members of Congress, and others, he labored incessantly to impress upon them the immense importance of opening a cheap and easy communication with the Western country by means of internal improvements. 'He suggested,' says Marshall, 'the appointment of Commissioners of integrity and abilities, exempt from the suspicion of prejudice, whose duty it should be, after an accurate examination of the Potomac, to search out the nearest and best portage between it and the streams capable of improvement, which run into the Ohio. Those streams were to be actually surveyed, the impediments to their navigation ascertained, and their relative advantages examined. The navigable waters West of the Ohio, towards the great lakes to be followed to their mouths.' 'These things being done,' says Marshall, 'and an accurate map of the whole presented to the public, he was persuaded that reason would dictate what was right and proper.'

RAIL ROADS.

A pamphlet has been published in Augusta, (Geo.,) by one of the Engineers on the Charleston and Hamburg Rail Road, addressed to the 'Friends of Internal Improvement in the Southern States.' It consists mainly of an inquiry into the cost and plan of construction of that road, compared with other roads in the country, and an argument drawn from these premises in favor of the superior advantages which the South possesses over the North, in establishing this kind of improvement.

These advantages are, the greater abundance and cheapness of good timber; the character of the country, which, especially in the pine regions within 100 miles of the sea board, requires a less undulating profile; the absence of frosts, which, at the north, create the necessity of large expenditures; the saving of expense in the employment of slave labor, which is put at 30 per cent.; and the cheapness of land, which frequently affords almost a gratuitous right of way. These inferences and calculations are sustained by a comparison between the actual final cost of the South Carolina road, enjoying all these advantages, with that of the most prominent northern roads in progress or completed. We make the following table of the result, from the pamphlet, which is published in the Charleston Courier of the 12th. In comparing the cost of the several works mentioned, their character for permanency and durability must of course be taken into view, in order to arrive at a just estimate of their relative expense of construction.

	Length.	Cost per mile.
South Carolina -	135 miles -	$6,700
Camden & Amboy	61 (estimated)	18,366
Newcastle & Frenchtown	16 - -	25,000
Hudson & Mohawk -	15 3-4 -	50,000
Baltimore & Ohio -	70 about -	30,000
Carbondale - -	— - -	20,000

The disproportion in these cases is increased by the consideration, that in the South Carolina estimate, $6,700 per mile, are included all expenditures of every description, steam engines, cars, &c. &c., while in the other estimates, these are excluded, forming additional items of charge. By these figures, the writer (Mr. A. A. Dexter) makes the average cost of railroads at the north not less than $30,000 per mile, or more than four times more than that of the South Carolina Rail Road, and by inference, than railroads in general, in that part of the country. He adds, that although the country through which the South Carolina Rail Road passes, is one of the poorest in the United States, yet a great improvement is already visible along the whole line. His calculations upon the increased value of the lands, give the average rise in price per acre $1 per acre within two miles of the road, or upon 179,000 acres of land. In some places land has risen 500 to 1,000 per cent, and several towns and villages begun to spring up.—Balt. American.

Rideau Canal.—A correspondent of the Commercial Advertiser, who dates from "Lake Ontario," after giving a description of the Rideau Canal, which, in connection with lakes and rivers, forms a water communication, navigable by steam boats, between Kingston and Montreal, a distance of 270 miles, adds—

"From what I have seen and heard, I am fully of the opinion that unless the state of New York reduces the Canal toll greatly on all produce coming to the sea board markets, the internal communication in the Canadas will be the means of drawing a very considerable portion of your western produce to Montreal. While I was there, a considerable quantity came in direct from Ohio, via the Welland Canal; and I understood that the importation this year had increased, in the article of flour, over one hundred per cent.; and, on most articles, exceeded fifty per cent. This ought to be looked to in season, before the trade is diverted.—The present situation of the canal fund, will certainly enable the state to make a large reduction from the present tariff.

Pennsylvania Canal.—All the canals are in good order. This morning, boats from Muncy, on the West Branch, Wilkesbarre, on the North Branch, and Holidaysburgh, on the Juniata, were observed about Mr. Walters' ware house.

Freights from Philadelphia to Pittsbugrh $2 per 100 lbs. The advertisement of Garber, O'Conner, and others, in this paper, shows that a new line of Freight Boats will immediately be put on the line from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh.—Harrisburgh Chronicle.

Manufactures.—The most important manufacturing State in the Union is Massachusetts. In this State, in 1831, there were $12,390,000 invested in the cotton manufacture; mills, 250; cotton worked up, 24,000,000 lbs. Next in importance is Rhode Island. In that State were 116 mills, and over $6,000,000 invested, consuming 10,000,000 lbs. raw material. Maine, the lowest in this respect among the New England States, had only 8 mills and a capital of $700,000. In the whole United States the number of cotton mills, in operation, in 1831, was 795; amount of capital $40,714,984; quantity of cotton consumed, 77,757,316 lbs.—Newburyport Herald.

The Collector of the Delaware Division of the Pennsylvania Canal at Easton received $1,572 94 tolls during the week ending on the 14th inst.—Amer. Sentinel, Aug. 19.

PHILADELPHIA MARKET—Ending Saturday evening, August 17, 1833.—Collected for the United States Gazette, from actual sales.

COTTON.—The imports of cotton during the past week have been very light; the only arrival we have to notice is 158 bales from Savannah. The sales do not exceed 350 bales, the greater proportion of which was Tennessee, at 14 1-4 cts. and several small parcels of Georgia Uplands at 14 3-4 a 16 cts. Considerable parcels have been shipped owing to the favorable advices received from Liverpool to 8th July, advising an advance of 1d sterling per lb., and the preceeding week's sales of 35,500 bales. Uplands are quoted 8 3-4 to 10d sterling per lb.

FLOUR.—The enquiry for superfine flour for export during the week has been fair, and sales to exceed 5000 bbls., have been made; about 3300 bbls., fresh ground were sold at $5 3-4, which may be considered the fair market price; 100 bbls., superfine (retailing brand) at $5 7-8; 125 bbls., scraped at $5 1-2, and 1800 bbls., Canby's Brandywine City Mills, a very superior and choice article, at $6 50, and we also learn that a cargo of extra flour of another brand has been sold at $6 1-4. The precise quantity we have not ascertained. A lot of 200 bbls., superfine, old stock, was taken on Saturday at $5 1-2. The stock of flour on hand is quite small, and holders very firm at above prices. In rye flour there has been nothing doing. No sales of consequence have been made on the Schuylkill side.

SUGAR.—The sugar market is very brisk and tending upwards—the stock in first hands is greatly reduced; we report sales at 20 hhds. N. O. at 8 1-2 cts., 4 months; 300 hhds., terms not reported; 205 bbls., at 8 cts., 4 and 6 months; 49 boxes White Hav. at 9 7-8 cts., 4 months; 139 boxes do. 10 1-4 cts., 4 months, and a small parcel at 10 3-4 cts., 6 months; 100 boxes brown at 8 3-8 cts., on time; and 50 do. do. 8 1-2 cts., 6 months; 70 hhds. St. Croix, 9a9 3-4 cts., 4 and 6 months; and 4 hhds. Porto Rico, at 8 1-4 cts., 4 months. Considerable advance has also taken place on refined sugars; sales of Louisiana loaf at 14 cts.

WOOL.—The enquiry for wool since our last report has been good, though the quantity disposed of does not equal the sales of the last months.—Prices still continue without any change, and holders remain very firm at quotations. The late sale in New York, having given a confidence to the heavy holders of wool, which had in a measure began to waver, we quote sales of 25 bales Buenos Ayres wool, with burrs, at 10 cts., and several small parcels; western fleeces, different grades, at our highest quotation.

Insurance against Loss by Fire.

THE Franklin Fire Insurance Company, of Philadelphia, respectfully inform the public, that they continue to make permanent or limited Insurance against loss or damage by Fire, in town and country, on Houses, Barns, Manufactories, Stores, and other Buildings—and on Goods, Wares, Merchandise, and Agricultural Products, at very reduced premiums.

Application may be made at the Office, No. 163½ Chesnut street, nearly opposite to the United States' Bank, either personally or by letter, addressed to CHARLES N. BANCKER, Sec'y.

TO PRINTERS, &c.

ADAM RAMAGE respectfully informs his friends and the public, that the continues to make Printing, Copper Plate, Copying, Seal, Lithographic, and other Presses.

Among the variety of Printing Presses in use, it is found necessary, where printing is so universal, to have one of a simple, cheap, and durable description; at the present reduced price of Printing Materials, a small office can now be furnished at a little more than the cost of one expensive and complicated Press.

His present Patent Printing Press is compact, with two perfect Iron Surfaces, instead of wood and stone, as formerly—requires no staying, and can be repaired by any common mechanic.

It is particularly adapted for the country, or for South America, where it is now generally known as the only press that can be transported into the interior of the country with safety and facility.—These Presses are of all sizes, from Imperial to Job and Card Presses, and at corresponding prices.

From his connection with all the Type Foundries of the U. States, he is enabled to furnish a complete Printing Office on the same terms as at the respective foundries.

He embraces this opportunity of offering his grateful acknowledgments for the liberal encouragement he has for a long series of years experienced from the trade, by which he has been enabled to manufacture a greater number of Printing Presses than any other individual in the United States; and will only add, that he is not now solicitous to do a greater business than he can manage with convenience, and continue to give satisfaction to those who may favor him with their commands.

All articles in the Printing line as usual, and on as reasonable terms as at other establishments.

Lithographic Presses, of his make, may be seen at the principal offices of that art in different parts of the United States.

PROSPECT HILL
Literary & Scientific Institution.

PITTSBURGH, Pa.

ON the 1st of July, Mr. DANIEL STONE intends opening, near the City of Pittsburgh, an Institution for the instruction of boys. Its plan is to combine, as far as possible, the peculiar advantages of a domestic and public education.—The pupils, with the principal and assistants, will constitute one family, and be at all times under careful supervision. The Discipline will be mild, but strict, such as a father, solicitous for the welfare of his children, would exercise over them. It is believed that an appeal to reason, and the sense of honor and duty, will generally secure obedience. Coercive measures will, therefore, be adopted only in extreme cases.

The Course of Study will embrace the English, Latin, Greek, and French Languages; Arithmetic, Algebra, and Geometry; Geography and History—Ancient and Modern; Rhetoric, Composition, and Elocution; Natural Philosophy and Chemistry; Penmanship, Orthography, and Reading. Frequent examinations will be held, open to the friends and relations of the youths.

The Mode of Instruction will be thorough and critical, and no subject will be relinquished until fully understood. That the scholar's mind may become vigorous, active, and self-confident—prepared for the stern conflicts of life, and a fearless discharge of its duties, he will be encouraged to reason and decide for himself.

Each student will be required to attend such church as his parent or guardian shall designate.

To preserve health and elasticity of spirits, to check indolence, and promote industry among the students, they will be daily exercised in athletic sports.

Pupils will be admitted between the ages of Six and Sixteen. None can be received for less than one term.

The uniform Dress will consist of a cap, blue roundabout, with metal buttons, and blue pantaloons. Every article of clothing should be marked with the owner's name in full.

The Terms are two hundred dollars a year, payable quarterly in advance. This includes Tuition, Board, Lodging, Washing, Mending, Light, and Fuel.

The Vacations, after the present year, will be three—the 1st, of two weeks, from the 3d Wednesday in April; the 2d, of four weeks, from the 2d Wednesday in August; and one week at Christmas.

The Matron's department will be under the care of Mrs. Reynolds, of this city.

THE Public is respectfully informed, that this ELEGANT NEW THEATRE, at present building, in Fifth Street, will be opened for the Season, under the management of the subscriber, with a Dramatic Company not surpassed by any in the Union, on Monday, the Second of September, 1833.

The building has been substantially erected, by those well known Mechanics, Messrs. Roseburg, Reynolds, Scott, & McCulloch, after a plan drawn by John Haviland, Esq., of Philadelphia, whose justly acquired fame as an Architect will be increased by the style and Beauty of the Present Edifice.

ELEGANCE AND SPLENDOR,

Will equal, if not surpass those belonging to the Metropolitan Theatres of New York, or Philadelphia.

MECHANICAL DEPARTMENT

Will be placed under the Superintendence of Mr. Hoffner, of the Chesnut Street Theatre, Philadelphia.

MR. E. FORREST,

Who will have the honor of appearing before them at an early period, of which due notice will be given. Negotiations have already been entered into with the most distinguished Performers of the American Stage, who will appear in rapid succession—among others,

MR. & MRS. HILSON,
MISS CLARA FISHER,
MRS. KNIGHT,
MR. J. R. SCOTT,

Also, Mr. PARSLOE, of the Theatre, Covent Garden, London, &c. &c. &c.

In making these arrangements, the subscriber has used every exertion in his power to render THE THEATRE a place of rational amusement---

"To raise the genius and to mend the heart;
Shew Virtue her own features;
Vice her own image;
The age and body of the time, his form and pressure."

And he throws himself confidently on the liberality of the citizens of Pittsburgh for support.

THE Subscriber has the satisfaction to say to the public, and his friends, that he has connected with his other business, the manufactury of Mill and Cross Cut Saws; and can furnish supplies to merchants and others: he believes them to be equal to any ever used in the western country—the experience of the workmen employed, with the known good qualities of the steel, justifies him in warranting the article to any who may be disposed to patronize western industry.

☞ WELCH MEDICAMENTUM. ☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,

From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

Utica, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer is vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞ A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S

COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes givingt emporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradully increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

PATENT PLANING MACHINE.—The right to use this valuable machine, invented and patented by William Woodworth, and known as Woodworth's Patent Planing Machine, may be obtained on application to the subscriber for the counties of Allegheny, Butler, Beaver, Washington, Green, Fayette, Somerset, Cambria, Indiana, Jefferson, Clearfield, M'Kean, Warren, Venango, Mercer, Crawford, and Erie, in the State of Pennsylvania. That part of Maryland lying west of the Blue Ridge; all that part of Virginia lying west of the Blue Ridge, except the county of Ohio. The whole of the state of Ohio except the counties of Hamilton, Butler, and Montgomery. The whole of the state of Kentucky, except the counties of Jefferson, Boone, Oldham, Gallatin, and Campbell. The whole of Indiana, except the counties of Floyd, Clark, Jefferson, Dearborn, and Switzerland. The whole of the state of Illinois, and the territory of Michigan. Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE.

THE Subscriber offers for sale the farm on which he lives, in Washington county, on Pigeon creek, one mile south of Williamsport, on the Monongahela river, to which there is a perfectly level road. This farm contains near 400 acres, the greater part of which is first rate land. There is on the premises a Brick Dwelling House, a Merchant mill, in good repair, a new saw mill, a stone still house, 35 by 40 feet; a salt works is also in operation, and worked to advantage; about 150 acres of land cleared and under good fence. There is on the premises three small tenements for the accommodation of families. This tract is well timbered, and abounds with stone coal and springs of water, both of the best quality.

To a person wishing to embark in a manufacturing business, and possessing capital, this would be a very desirable situation, having the advantage of both water power from Pigeon creek, and banks of the very best coal near to the works, and easy of access, and its vicinity to so navigable a river, where articles of any kind are so cheaply transported to Pittsburgh.

For further particulars, apply to James P. Stuart, Merchant, Wood street, Pittsburgh, or to the subscriber on the premises.
